THE NEW YORK FOUR HUNDRED.

Society Victims of Blackmail.

In the cosmopolitan and energetic life of New York sensations of one sort or another are constantly filling the columns of the newspapers, be they disastrous accidents. commerci I crashes, or the exposure of the schemes of sharpers. In the latter category must be placed a remarkable system of backmail which was recently brought to "

The names of some of the most prominent society people in the United States have been brought into what appears to be a gigantic blackmailing scheme involving the well-known society weekly. An arrest was made on the 11th ult., when Charles H. Ahle, having the ---appearance of a fashionable clubman, was taken into custody on the charge of attempting to extert $500 from Edwin M. Post, a member of the Stock Exchange and formerly of the firm of Thomas & Post, Stockbrokers. Able was arrested by a detective in a room in the Stock Exchange building just after the market closed. A moment before, after a short talk, Post had handed Ahle $500 in marked money. In the complaint which Post made he charges that Able had come to him and asked him to subscribe $500 for an edition-de-luxe of a book called 'The Smart Set.' which a mysterious institution called the Society Editors' Association is getting out. Able, however, had practically a denunded the money for the suppression of an article which he said Town Topics was going to print about Post. After his arrest Able protested that he was not guilty of any wrongdoing, and produced a subscription book containing the names of some of the most prominent persons in New York society as subscribers to the new publication. Able was arrested through a trap set for him. Post induced him to get a note from Charles Stokes Wayne, editor in chief of Town Topics, directing Post to grant an interview to Ahle as Wayne's representative. Later on the $500 alleged blackmail was paid in marked money and the arrest was made. In the course of Post's negotiations with Ahle over the payment of $500, Ahle is declared to have said :- Town Topics makes most of its money out of just this sort of thing. We have had scandals worth $20,000 each. There is one man in this town (mentioning) the man's name) that we had a scandal out worth $10,000, but he was let off with a $1,500 subscription to snother book.

"Fads and Fancies." Further investigations into this new sensation revealed the fact that sums varying from $1,600 to as much as $10,000 had been p id as subscripe 1174 tions to the promised book "Fads and Fancies," and the question why such huge sums should be paid for a mere book is exercising the minds of the authorities. It is estimated that at least $200,000 was subscribed. The publishers of Town Topics were suspected of being closely connected with the blackmailing scheme, and, until they were compelled, refused to allow their books to be inspected.

> On the 18 ult, a man pretending to represent Town Topics tried to blackmail Mr. Giovanni Morosini, banker. Morosini according to the story, was asked to subscibe $2,500 for a certain publication, with the alternative of being 'written up' in Town Topics. Morosini used his boot on the man at the top of the staircase, and subsequently there appeared in Teron Topics paragraphs not complimentary to one of Morosini's daughters. It is said there is in existence a letter in which a demand for money was made. The name signed to this letter is said to be that of a well-known writer on social topies.

From various sources it was learned that the persons who subscribed to * Fads and Fancies include Chauncey M. Depew, $2,500; J. J. Astor, $2,500; Perry Belmont, 81,500; and Clarence II, Mackay, $2,500.

From a superficial examination of the books of Town Topics it was discovered that nobody had paid more than $2,500 except Mrs Collis P. Huntin ton, who paid $10,000. The records showed, however, that a number of persons had made additional subscriptions after putting up the first $1,500.

The connection of Town Topics with the scandal had one result which sheds an interesting light on society journalism in New York. In a recent number of the journal there were several paragraphs congratulating the wife of a certain W. R. Travers, a society man, on getting a divorce. It referred to him as'a 'social outcast' so far as the Vanderbilts, Astors, Harrimans, and others were concerned, and said :- Newport society has decided that Travers as a husband has grown impossible. Travers's friends decided that now was the time to enter proceedings article was the basis for a criminal action , for libel, but after looking it over the Assintant District Attorney decided that there i was no ground for criminal proceedings.

THE POPE'S ENCYCLICAL.

Catholics to Oppose Socialism.

LONDON, July 21. - A Times correspondent \ states that the real gist of the Encyclical which his Holiness Papa Pius X recently addressed to the Italian bisliops, is that it is the duty of Italian Catholics to prepare ; to fight the approaching predominance of socialism by an active participation in the policical life of the nation.

It is pointed out that if the action of the Catholic Guilds and confratornities is to be efficient, it must adapt itself to social needs, and employ practical means, even the public life of the State, which would enable Catholics to co-operate for a people's welfare.

Although the participation of Catholics in legislative power, acting as Senators and Members of the Chamber of Deputies, is already forbidden, yet the supreme good of society may demand the granting of dispensations by bishops.

This imports a duty on the part of all , Catholics to seriously prepare themselves for political life, as already exhibited in the establishing an electoral organisation. Ca. 28 or 30 days tholics entering upon appublic career must further the social and economic welfare of their Fatherland, and particularly of the people, on distinctively Christian principles, and defend the supreme interests of the Church.

The forces of Catholicism must act with the utmost energy and perseverance, and confraternities aiming at Christian-civilisation ought to act with ressonable freedom in-political matters foreign to the purely espiritual ministry; but in the domain of politics, as in other domains, the doctrine applies, 'He that heareth you, heareth

The Pope is sensible of the special dangers threatening clergy in politics. They might be tempted to attribute supreme importance to the material interests of the people, neglecting the graver interests of the sacred ministry. A priest should not appear as a party man, and should not take part in political associations without his hishop's permission.

In the sixties mails were despatched by means of Government couriers from Shanghai to Poking, but it was arranged to better facilitate the service, that the Customs should take over the task, and the form of the present service then began. In 1876, when the Chefoo Convention was being negotiated, the Inspector General was authorised to inform the British Minister that China was prepared to establish a Nationa Postal Service, but the insertion of clause to that effect was omitted from the Treaty and the matter was dropped: The experiments, however, were continued, and in 1878 Customs Posta stamps were initiated and Native Post Offices were opened alongside th Customs Post. # A DRESSMAKER'S GRIEVANCE Alleged Breach of Agreement.

At the Supreme Court this morning, in Summary Jurisdiction, before His Honour Mr A. G. Wise, Puisne Judge, Janet Bell, widow, proceeded against Ahmet Rumjahn, proprietor of . The Burlington, ' for breach' of agreement. The plaintiff claimed $1000

Mr H. N. Ferrors (instructed by Mr C. E. H. Beavis) appeared for the complainant and Mr H. E. Pollock, K. C. (instructed by Mr H. J. Gedge) for the defendant.

Mr Ferrers, in outlining the case, said' that about the beginning of this year Mr Rumjahn decided to open a dressmaking establishment, at new premises opposite to the Hengkong Hotel, now known as the Burlington", and engaged Mrs Bell asdressmaker under an agreement set out in the statement of claim. He would only call special attention to clause 4 of this which provided that if the husiness did not pay it would be at the employer's option, to give three months notice. The business was not ready to open until May I and everything went along satisfactorily until June I when Mrs Bell received a letter giving her three months' notice. They said that a month was not a reasonable time for Mr Numjahn to say whether the business would pay or not, Mrs Bell worked very hard indeed and did her best in Mr Rumjahn's interests. The defendant alleged incompetence, insubordination and insolence. The first ground he did not think the defendant relied on. As regards the latter allegations

there was neither inaubordination nor in-solenes. If there were little acts on the complainant's part they did not amount to insolonce or insubordination. Mrs Bell, drossmaker, stated that she had been in Hongkong for two years and Esbjerg is scapert town on the coast of had been employed by Mesars William Denmark, having the best harbour on the Powell, and while in that employ Mr Rumjahn offered her a higher rate of salary and she resigned and entered his employment. When she went to the Burlington on May 1 there were were no goods there, no machines and no Chinese tailors. The machines came a day or so later and she commenced business by taking orders and making up their own material for customers. During the first week in May very little was done except to engage tailors, etc., and during the month although no goods, except a few little things arrived, she did the best she could working very hard at night and on Sundays, in addition to the stipulated hours. On Jane she received a letter from Mr Rumjahn complaining that the business was not paying and dismissing her. She replied that Mr Rumjahn lad not given her a chance, and that she would hold him to the agreement. Mr Rumjahn rejoined that 4') pieces of work was not a professional preformance for a month and that he had good grounds for dismissing Mr Rumjahn offered her the sum of $500 if she left the Colony when his new dressmaker arrived. She did not accept the offer, she did not want the money; all

Another dress complained of she promised to make as quickly as possible and did so. On June 20 Mr Ramishn told her she was to go at once and afterwards when she went back to the shop Mr Rumjohn was there and told her she had no business there and said he would put her out or have her arrested if she did not go. It was not always possible to do things to time with Chinese tailors. She did not give back the keys of the shop until she left. She had to go back at night and required the keys to get into the workroom. She worked even harder in June than in May because she wished to show-Mr-Rumjahn that the business would pay even though the place was under By Mr Pollock—She had no intention to be rude to Mr Rumjahn. Perhaps her letter of June 16th was hasty; she did not call it a rude letter, although perhaps it was not nice and polite. She had no intention of being rude to Mr Rumjahn she only wished him to understand that she was doing her best for the business; it was her living as well as his. They seemed to try and make all the trouble for her that they could. She took a letter from Mrs Bisney, regarding her dress, to a solicitor but she did not want to make brouble. By His Lordship-She did not think Mesers Wilkinson and Grist would be

When witness was employed by the defendant it was as the manager of White and Company and he left on three months' notice under his agreement. He then went to Price and Company's (owned by Mr Rumjahn) and was dismissed summarily from there because business was Bertha Johnstone-Lee, dressmaker's assistant employed at the Burlington, stated that she never saw any rudoness on the part of Mrs Bell towards the defendant. The plaintiff was succeeded by Madame Ribot an dressmaker but she had also left since and another lady had taken her place. The Misses Burke, spoken of, had also left and witness was leaving.

Mr Pollock in opening the defence said that Mrs Bell had misconceived her position at the Burlington. To use a colloquialism she wanted to boss the show. She did not look upon her employer as entitled to any information and that led to disobedience and insubordination. Regarding Mrs Bisney's dress she took up on herself to consult a solicitor, which was not in keeping with her position as dressmaker. He would now call Mr Bieney.

His Lordship - Is he an expert, too? Mr Pollock-I don't know, but he did actually see the dress tried on. Mr Bisney deposed that he saw the dress in question tried on and his wife was dissatisfied with it. Mr Ferrers objected. He did not think the withers could give evidence as to his wife's feelings. His Lordship-Oh I think so. I should think he would know if his wife were

THE BOYCOTT.

No More Moon Cakes.

(From Cur Correspondent.)

CANTON, August 22.

The fierce struggle to which the boycot has given rise has now entered the aphere of religion, and concerned itself with ceremonial observances.

Everybody in China knows of the great moon feast held about the middle of September. One of the special features of this feast is the preparation of a peculiar species of moon cakes which are very popular with all classes. In the preparation of these cakes for many years the finest quality of American flour has been used. It has now been decided by the ladies of Canton, whose business it is to attend to these matters, that they will not buy any cakes made of this flour, but will content themselves with fried rice cakes instead.

Moreover in regard to the cakes usually presented to the servants, as cumshas, it has been decided that money shall be given instead. Indeed, through the medium of the planchette, the far-famed god of war has made known his will in the matter, and has warned all to keep from the orthodox luxury or they will incur his fierce displeasure. In addition to this most important decision, it has been decided that at weddings and such felicitous occasions, the same rule shall apply. I have only touched on the fringe of the subject here for the native accounts cover: wide scope of what shall not be eaten if any American flour is used, and so it will be found that this problem will solve itself, for the owners of cake-shops were perplexed as to what they should do were they to Soycott American flour, and now the people themselves have diceded for them.

In cases of circumstantial evidence the acts on the part of the suspects must be weighed. These people instead of going to their rooms went up Battery Bath; they knew there were grounds for apprehension. They found the body had gone. What took them back an hour after the occurrence? That must be taken into consideration together with the theory put forth by the Crown that the prisoner knew very well of way back down the path the three persons met three soldiers going up, so that Miss Desbien made virtue of necessity when she admitted going up there. After passing the place which Miss Desbish remembered The as being the spot where Ellis knocked the gunner down, she says she noticed a pool of blood. This was some distance above where Ellis had knocked Sampson down, well that night and was probably not in a fit condition to remember anything with to notice blood above the spot where the deceased was knocked down, and she saw it. The three soldiers had previously passed there, but as they supposed him to be drunk, they took no notice of him. They returned in time to see the prisoner and two women coming down the path. In the mountime an Indian Sergeant on patrol duty saw the deceased lying on the path and had him taken to the Central Police Station, whence he was sent to the Government Civil Hospital, and handed over to Dr Bell. Sampson was then unconscious and he never regained consciousness, dying at 9 o'clock on the same day. The question at issue was whether the unconsciousness, which undoubtedly existed at the time the Indian Sergeant found the deceased, was caused by the fall occasioned by the blow from the deceased. ## CHINA'S SEARCH FOR LIGHT.

The Envoys to Japan.

Japaneso journals publish a long statement of the views said to have been submitted to the Throne by the Chinese envoys who are soon to visit Japan on a mission of inquiry, namely, Mr Tang Fang, Governor of Hunan, and Mr Lu Yuan, Governor of Kiangsu. The gist of the two officials' advice is that China should consult Japan about everything and should, in short, be guided mainly by her neighbour's advice. . Messrs Tang and Lu are evidently whole-hearted advocates of a pro-Japanese policy. They consider only hope lies in reformed administration Speaking of the views of Chinese officials it may be mentioned that the Chinese Re presentative in St. Petersburg is said (Jiji Shimpo's Peking telegrams] to have wired LMOST EVERYONE, AT THE END for her to continue the war; that the nation frankly it cannot be said that Russian OF SUMMER, FEELS WILTED longs for a cassation of hostilities; that treatment of Japanese throughout the propeace may soon be looked for, and that sent war encourages such displays of China should prepare accordingly.

that the future of Far-Eastern Asia lies in the hollow of Japan's hand and that China's

This action on China's part in sending envoys abroad to study foreign institutions appreciably coolier. The reason is that the appears to have caused some chagrin in St. Petersburg, where it is believed that the object of the energy is, not merely to conduct researches, but mainly to establish special relations with the countries to which late the Liver and Kidneys into action the envoys are to proceed, namely, Japan, again. IN CHOOSING AN APERIENT | England and the United States. The Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs is said to have resented the omission of his country from the list of places to be visited, and the Russian Charge d'Affaires in Peking is reported to have conveyed a similar complaint to the Wai-we-pu. But this is incredible for there is, we believe, no intention of omitting Russia.

> It is further stated that Russia is by no means satisfied with China's refusal to -earmark the East-China Railway as a special asset, which must be excluded from Japan's spolic oping in Manchuria. The Russian Chargé d'Affaires is alleged to have renewed his protest on this point. - Japan Daily

A MOTHER'S EXPERIENCE.

TATE have received a communication from VV Mrs L. Lowis, of Hazelhurst House, St Andrew's Rd., Cogan, pr. Ponarth, Wales, which is exceptionally interesting.

Just previous to the birth of her first child THE Undersigned, having been appointed Mrs Lowis became so ill with dropsy that AGENTS for the above Company, are her life was despaired of. The premature propared to accept Fire Risks at Current birth of the child, however, saved her, and the dropsical swellings went down somewhat. But at the accord period of pregu-562 ancy the dropsy reappeared worse that over, the water threatening the patient's heart. A Specialist and Mrs Lewis's own NORTH BRITISH AND MERCANTILE doctor agreed that the case was hopeless, but the second child was providently born some months before its time, and the mother's life again saved. The doctor then MOTAL FUNDS AT 31ST DECEMBER, 1904, warned the patient that to attempt to rear children would cost her her life, but at this time Mrs Lewis heard of Doan's Backache Kidney Pills, and began taking them. This medicine drove away every trace of dropsy II-Fire Funds ..... 3,001,266 12 0 and kidney trouble, and so built up the III-Life & Annuity Funds 13,472,532 7 0 patient's strongth that her third child was born healthy and strong, and up till the £17,161,293 19 9 last the mother was able to perform her Revenue Fire Branch ... 2,056,713 1 8 household duties. Life & Annuity \ 1.632,216 3 4

It was on 12th April, 1902, that Mrs Lewis told us of her cure; and on August 3rd, 1904- over 21 years later-she said :-'I've never had the least sign of dropsy or kidney trouble since my cure by Doan's Pills. And I've more good news to tell you: twelve months ago I gave birth to another baby-and a fine little fellow he is !' Doan's I ills are special kidney help. When a cold, misuse of beer, spirits and tea, or any other cause, puts extra work on the kidneys, Doan's Pills give the additional help needed; when the delicate kidney tissue is weakened or clogged, Doan's Pills strengthen and cleanse it; when the bladder walls and urinary passages are imflamed and coated with impurities, Doan's Pills.

allay the irritation and remove the cause, by driving out the clogging poisons. Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are 2/9 a box, or 13/9 for 6 boxes. To be had of all chemists and medicine-dealers, or direct from the proprietors, the Foster-McClellan Co., 8, Wells Street, Oxford Street, London, England, post free on receipt of price.

THE SAGHALIEN FISHERIES.

THE CHINA MAIL.

In the Kokumin Shimbun it is stated that the method of competitive tenders will be resorted to with regard to the Saghalien fisheries. Three classes of persons, however, will have preferential rights. They are first, Japanese subjects who received Russian fishing permits in 1903 from the Russian Government ; secondly, Japanese subjects who have sented fishing privileges from Russian holders of the same, and who are in possession of buildings or other property relating to fishing in the fishery district and thirdly, Russian subjects living in the island who have obtained fishing from their Government and are actually carrying on the enterprise. Special notice should be taken of the fact that Russian subjects are included in this category. Such magnanimity reflects the bighest credit on the Japanese Government," aince it shows that even during the existence of a state of war Russian subjects will be allowed to engage in peaceful enterprises under Japanese juo his Government that Russia's internal risdiction. Of course that is only in accord and fiscal conditions render it impossible with the best canons of civilization but benovolence on Japan's part.
